Dam coming down

Lock's completion to end need for cofferdam

ALTON — The walls of a $14 million cofferdam will come tumbling down at the Melvin Price Lock and Dam next month.

A contractor will tear down the 20-acre cofferdam that holds back the river from the construction site of a 600-foot auxiliary lock.

"We'll start pumping water into the lock around Christmas," said Maj. Roy Phillips of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. "When the lock is filled, the cofferdam will come down."

The $206 million lock is 70 percent finished, he said. "It's time to fill it with 10 to 40 feet of water."

"We'll pour concrete for another four to five months on the guide walls," Phillips said. "We're on target for the lock to be finished by the summer of 1993."

"After the concrete work is finished, we'll build the control house and electrical mechanisms."

The cofferdam has held back the river for three years while workers poured more than 200,000 cubic yards of concrete for the lock, said Jim Bissell, corps project engineer.

J.S. Alberici Construction Co. of St. Louis built the cofferdam in 1989.

"We pumped millions of gallons of water out of the river bed to build the lock," Phillips said.

Towboats have been pushing barges through a 1,200-foot lock since it opened in December 1989.

Total cost of the two locks and the dam is $920 million, Phillips said.

The contractor has asked the corps for a permit to dump more than 477,000 tons of sand and crushed rock from the round cofferdam cells around Ellis Island and the Missouri shore, Phillips said.

"The contractor will scoop it out of the cofferdam with a crane, load it on a barge, and haul it across the river," he said.

The corps is asking for public comment on the contractor's application for the permit, said Sue Janota-Summers of the corps regulatory department.

"People can write the Corps with comments or objections by Dec. 14." Letters may be sent to the District Engineer, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, 1222 Spruce St., St. Louis, 63101.

More than 200 craft union workers and laborers are working on the lock.

Carpenters, pile drivers and millwrights of Carpenters Local 377 of Alton will tear off the metal sheets from cells when the cofferdam is dismantled.

The carpenters' local has averaged 30 workers on the job since the lock and dam project started in 1979, said Kevin Hamilton, the union's business representative.

"It's put a lot of paychecks into Alton in the last 10 years,"

Cold weather safety tips offered

Stay safe and healthy this winter with these cold weather safety tips from Dr. Richard Nicol, emergency department physician at Anderson Hospital.

• When temperatures are low, stay indoors if possible.

• If you must go out, layer your clothing.

• Wear a hat and gloves.

• Keep adequate supplies in your car, including blankets and salt.

• Avoid alcohol if you're going to be out.

• If you suffer from cardiac or respiratory problems, avoid going out. These conditions are made worse by cold weather.

• Check on elderly relatives and friends often during cold weather. They can be more vulnerable to the extreme cold.

Frostbite, the freezing of body tissues, can occur when you are exposed to the cold weather for extended periods of time.

Symptoms of frostbite include pain, numbness and blisters in the affected area. If frostbite occurs, consult your private physician and soak the affected area in lukewarm water.

Hypothermia occurs when the internal body temperature becomes abnormally low. It develops when body heat is lost from exposure to cold air or water faster than it can be replaced.

Early symptoms of hypothermia can include lack of cooperation from the affected person, as well as confusion, unresponsiveness and mental skill impairment.

If you suspect hypothermia, contact your private physician and attempt to warm the individual with blankets.

Author to sign book in O'Fallon

Dr. Mary Manz Simon will be at Parent/Teacher Tools Inc. in O'Fallon on Saturday, Dec. 12, from 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The author will be signing her "Hear Me Read" Christian storybook series and will give tips on helping the beginning reader.

Parent/Teacher Tools Inc. is at 1400-A S. Lincoln.

OH MY ACHING CORNS!

A phrase so commonly used by those suffering needlessly from painful corns. Although trimming them affords temporary relief, within 1-2 months regrowth of the corn occurs along with the pain and discomfort. The recurrence is due to the underlying calcium deposit causing excessive pressure where the skin responds by building up that corn tissue. In almost all instances the corn can be permanently removed by an in-office procedure requiring little or no time off work. There is no need to suffer any longer. Consult the physicians and surgeons at the FOOT HEALTH CENTERS.

Counselors get chance to experience college

About 90 high school counselors and administrators and agency personnel learned how to better serve their students or clients by becoming Belleville Area College students for one day, during the college's annual High School/Agency Articulation Conference held recently at the Belleville Campus.

The purpose of this exercise was for the participants to experience first-hand what their students or clients experience when they enroll at BAC," said Dennis Sparr, co-chairman of the conference planning committee and a BAC counselor.

"But, this was not a typical meeting where they could sit in the theater and just listen to a bunch of speakers. They had to get up and go find the information for themselves."

Each participant was given an individual profile and assumed the identity of a new BAC student — such as a recent high school graduate, 30-year-old single parent, or military veteran. These "students" were responsible for gathering all information appropriate to their situations in order to register for classes. Each "student" then reported his findings to the group.

In addition to registering for classes, participants also had to find out about financial aid, veterans' benefits, or scholarships; register children in the child sitting service; or take a mock ASSET math and English placement program.

"This was one of the best conferences we have had," said Sparr. "All of our evaluations were rated good or excellent."

BAC officials also reviewed the new requirements for associate degree programs.

Members of the articulation conference planning committee included Director of Admissions Jann Florek; Counselors Dr. Mary Wochner, Pat Lurtz and Ray Modrell; and Gender Equity Program Coordinator Mary Rose Grant. Virgil Kassing, Collinsville High School counselor, also served as co-chairman of the committee.

The theme of the conference was "Discover BAC," in observance of the 50th anniversary of Christopher Columbus' historic voyage. BAC instructors Lynn and Luci Bradley, who recently visited the Dominican Republic, one of the first areas where Columbus landed, were the main characters in a play about new discoveries.

During the last hour of the conference, participants were given campus tours and viewed displays on the new desktop publishing program and new college admission requirements.

Coldwell Banker accepting holiday toys for youngsters

Coldwell Banker sales associates want all children to experience holiday joy. So, in cooperation with the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, Coldwell Banker offices are participating as Toys For Tots sponsors.

Locally, Coldwell Banker Star Realtors will serve as an official collection center from now through Dec. 22 and will accept new, unwrapped toys during this time.

"We want every child to experience happiness during the holidays," said John Blasingame, broker of Coldwell Banker Star Realtors.

"Unfortunately, these are tough times for a lot of families and we don't want to see children feel deprived because there isn't enough money for toys."

"Anyone interested in participating in this program may drop off toys at the Coldwell Banker Star Realtors office located at 3710-D Nameoki Road.

Or, if unable to bring in the toy, donors may contact the office at 878-0024 and someone will stop by their home or office and pick it up.

Founded in 1947, Toys For Tots has evolved from a small Los Angeles-area project to a nationwide campaign. The U.S. Marine Corps Reserve distributes the toys to local charitable organizations.

Free motel stays offered

By Ann-Marie Campos
Staff writer

Out-of-town guests visiting friends or family members at local nursing homes, hospitals or hospices during Christmas can get a free night's stay at the Fairview Heights Super 8 Motel.

The motel is offering a complimentary room without tax to individuals visiting institutionalized loved ones and who need a place to stay on both Christmas Eve and the night of Christmas Day.

"It makes being away from home at Christmas time a little easier," said Cathy Luttrell, general manager of the local motel. "We think it's good for the community and we'd like to do something to help the guests, to give them something back."

She said the 81-room motel offered the same special last year, but because it wasn't publicized there were no free rooms requested.

Rooms will be given upon availability, so Luttrell suggests making reservations in advance.

The offer came from the corporate office in Aberdeen, South Dakota, and each motel has the option to participate.

Revocable living trust has benefits

One of the most important components of a well-defined financial plan is the estate plan. It is imperative that we as individuals plan for our estate needs while keeping those needs in proper perspective with our entire financial plan. Too often we find "test book" estate plans that don't truly meet the financial needs of the individual's estate.

One of the areas of estate planning is the use of Living Trusts.

Trusts must be prepared by an attorney and are created in two ways: through your will, called a testamentary trust; and through a present trust agreement, called a living trust or "inter vivos trust." There are two types of living trusts to choose from: revocable and irrevocable.

Irrevocable Living Trust
The Irrevocable Living Trust generally forces you to give up ownership and control of the assets in the trust. This trust prohibits the grantor (you) from using or enjoying the trust property. In addition, you are not allowed to change or terminate the trust. The Revocable Living Trust is a far more flexible trust and is the subject of the article.

Revocable Living Trust
Revocable Living Trust allows you to maintain control and use of your assets in the trust. You are also allowed to alter or terminate the trust at any time in order to meet your changing needs.

There are numerous reasons for the popularity of Revocable

Brian Mulhall

Living Trusts. Listed below are just a few:

Reduce Probate Expenses and Avoid Delays

The assets in a living trust are not subject to the expense and delays associated with probate. In many cases, the erosion of assets from probate is substantial. In addition, the delays in settling an estate could be years if the will is contested.

Privacy
The assets and provisions of a Living Trust remain a private matter. In contrast, a will is a matter of public record and must be filed in court as part of the probate process.

Continuity
The trust continues in its operation and is uninterrupted by your death, disability or incapacity (physical, mental or legal).

Ease of Investment Management

Many people find the risk of managing their assets a never-ending job. For some, it is a pleasant thought that a qualified trustee would manage the assets in their trust. For others, the management of the trust's assets would remain with them as it has in the past. The flexibility to name the investment manager is certainly an advantage of a living trust.

Reduce Estate Taxes
Under current tax laws, each individual can transfer up to $600,000 free of Federal Estate Taxation. A popular estate planning technique is the use of the "A-B" revocable living trust, which allows the possibility of transferring up to $1.2 million free for a husband and wife.

Multi-State Property
When assets are located in more than one state, a living trust can be beneficial in avoiding probate in each state. It also allows you to retire in one state while your financial matters continue to run smoothly in your "home" state.

Preserve Business Interests and Property

Since the Living Trust can continue beyond your lifetime, it is ideal for preserving and keeping assets rather than having them sold at your death.

Estate planning is a complex process and constantly changing. However, if avoiding delays in the distribution of your assets, while maintaining maximum privacy is a concern, a Revocable Living Trust may be just the vehicle for you. In order for you to properly evaluate the applicability of a Living Trust for your personal Estate Plan, it will be necessary for you to contact your professional advisors.

new physician

Elizabeth Ann Wetzel, MD, family practitioner, recently joined the medical staff at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Wetzel is providing her services in the emergency room and also at St. Elizabeth Health Services Family Services Clinic, located at 3165 Myrtle Ave.

Wetzel graduated in 1989 with a medical degree from Rush Medical College in Chicago. She then completed her internship and residency in family practice at Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Greenville, N.C.

She is a member of the American Medical Association and American Academy of Family Practitioners, and a diplomat of the American Board of Family Practitioners.

"Working at St. Elizabeth, I have the best of both worlds. At the Family Services Clinic, I am able to provide much-needed services to the community," Wetzel said. "We focus on prevention and health maintenance as well as treating illnesses. In the emergency room, I see more acute illnesses and injuries. In both areas it is a pleasure to work with such a talented and caring staff."

Assistants have impact on care

With concern for soaring medical costs growing each year, health-care professionals have become increasingly aware that they can boost productivity and cut costs through utilization of a physician assistant.

This awareness is credited with transforming the physician assistant profession into the hottest growth area in the health field.

To offset the shortage of physicians in the mid-1960s, the first physician assistant programs were begun at Duke University in 1962. That first class consisted of four former military corpsmen; today, more than 19,000 physician assistants practice in the United States.

Physician assistants are members of a health-care team. Working independently under the supervision of licensed physicians, they provide diagnostic and therapeutic health care so that physicians can spend more time on complex patient problems.

Physician assistants provide such services as taking patient histories and performing physical examinations and other laboratory tests.

Once medical problems are diagnosed, physician assistants develop treatment plans and explain them to the patient. In a growing number of states, they recommend medications and drug therapies and have the authority to write prescriptions.

Because physician assistants perform a wide range of tasks that were traditionally performed exclusively by physicians, the educational preparation for this career requires an intensive course of studies involving both classroom and clinical components, taught primarily at university schools of medicine and allied health.

Currently, there are 51 accredited PA programs nationwide. Most require 24 months to complete, although some are as short as 14 months or as long as 48 months.

Most programs require applicants to have completed two years of college prior to admission and to have previous health-care experience. The education PA students receive is similar to that of medical students.

A nine- to 12-month instruction phase is followed by 12 to 15 months of supervised clinical experiences. Upon graduation, an academic degree or a physician assistant certificate is awarded.

Upon graduation, physician assistants must pass an examination developed by the National Board of Medical Lynn Billhartz in one of her favorite areas — patient health education.

Rosemary Ledbetter checks surgery orders.

Examiners, prior to being certified by the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants.

To maintain certification, physician assistants must earn 100 hours of continuing medical education each two years. Recertification is required every six years.

The job market is strong in almost every part of the United States for a board-certified PA.

For every graduating PA, there are at present 7.5 jobs available.

The Labor Department projects a 56.7 percent increase in the number of PA jobs available by the year 2000. Physician assistant income approaches six figures in some areas of the country.

In the Quad City area, Illinois S.W. Orthopedics Ltd. and the Women's Center each has added a physician assistant to its staff.

Physician assistants active here PAs stress prevention, cut hospitalization

Rosemary Ledbetter, a Granite City native, recently became the first physician assistant employed by Illinois S.W. Orthopedics Ltd.

"I was born at St. Elizabeth Hospital and volunteered there as a candy stripper at age 14," Ledbetter said. "Being 'right across the street in the Wolf Medical Building and assisting in surgery at the Medical Center is like coming home."

The mother of 18-year-old twins, Ledbetter received an associate degree in nursing from Belleville Area College in 1982.

After serving as nurse manager at the Thermography Center in Bridgeton, Mo., and as a psychiatric nurse at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, she decided in 1985 she wanted to become more involved in medicine and entered the Physician Assistant Program at St. Louis University.

Receiving a bachelor of medical science physician assistant degree in 1986, she served as a physician assistant to Dr. Stidiqui in Granite City and as a surgical physician assistant at Barnes Hospital prior to joining Illinois S.W. Orthopedics.

"I am comfortable with what I do," Ledbetter said. "I am almost like a second set of hands in the operating room for our physicians, Dr. Anderson and Dr. Beyer. I am able to do much of their paper work, many of their everyday tasks and serve as a go-between with the nursing staff, physicians and hospital."

The Women's Center in Granite City also became a medical trail-blazer when it hired German-born Lynn Billhartz as its first physician assistant. Since she entered Kaskaskia Junior College in 1988, Billhartz planned to make medicine her profession.

Upon receiving an associate degree from Kaskaskia in 1990, she became one of 90 applicants for 24 available positions in the Physician Assistant Program of the School of Allied Health Professions at St. Louis University.

Despite being one of the youngest applicants and lacking the health-care experience of many of the applicants, she was accepted into the program and graduated in the top 50 percent of her class this spring.

"I started my internship with the Women's Center in April. When Dr. Malnar offered me the position of physician assistant in August, I accepted because he is really good with his patients. He listens to them and it's obvious he really cares about each patient," Billhartz said.

"I recently married and, while Mark and I plan to have a family, I definitely want to continue my career. I'm looking forward to a long and happy association with the Women's Center."

The use of physician assistants helps prevent higher cost for health care through increased practice productivity and efficiency. PAs can reduce the frequency and duration of hospitalizations by stressing patient preventive health care and by providing increased patient counseling and education, authorities say.

Kmart continues annual coat drive for 7th year

The 1992 annual "Coats for Kids" drive is underway in the Metro St. Louis area. Since 1986 Kmart has spearheaded the drive, providing coats and other warm-related accessories to needy children and their families throughout the winter.

Collection bins are currently in place at nearly every Kmart location in Metro St. Louis. People are asked to drop off any like-new children's coats they may be able to contribute. While the focus of the campaign is on children's coats, other cold-weather items such as adult coats, blankets, sweaters and mittens are also welcomed.

The program's success is what keeps it going. Nicki Roe, district manager for Kmart, says, "Due to the fact that there were so many items donated last year, we decided to keep the program going. The program has grown tremendously since 1986 when 6,000 coats were collected. In 1991 the amount grew to 70,000 and is expected to reach 85,000 in 1992." Already, Don McPhearson, St. Charles Kmart store manager, says, "I can tell you right now, it's unbelievable the number of coats that have gone out."

Many long hours are dedicated to this project by Kmart store employees, the United Way and local charities in each county of Metro St. Louis. Jim Farrell, Kmart district manager, recognizes the importance of community support of the program. "Without the public generously donating the coats, the program is nothing."

Kmart employees on their "Good News Committee" donate their personal time to sort and bag the incoming coats to be shipped to the local charities. Farrell says, "This campaign requires a lot of time and effort, but we feel it's important to give something back to the community."

United Way matches up each Kmart location with a local charity, where the coats are distributed to the needy. "People coming into the agencies in need are not always homeless. The working poor are also in need of clothing for their children and themselves to stay warm," says Kevin McCarthy, United Way of Greater St. Louis projects director. He also emphasized the need for children's coats. "Kids need to have their basic security needs met before they can concentrate on school or other productive activities, and staying warm is one of those needs," says McCarthy.

McCarthy stresses, "This is an important program. For people with coats to give, they can feel good knowing that we're really doing something with them."

Collection bins will be in place through December 31, 1992 at the following Kmart stores:

Arnold	Fulton

Rolla	Fairview Heights
Columbia	Alton

Auxiliary plans Christmas Party

Eagles Auxiliary 1126 made plans for a Christmas party to be held at the Eagles Home on Tuesday, Dec. 8, with dinner to be served at 6:30 p.m. The dinner will be prepared by the men's Aerie and the donation will be $2. There will also be a $2 Christmas gift exchange.

President Joanna Spencer conducted the meeting. Conductor Vera Johnson presented the flag, Bible and the emblem of the home at the altar, with all members reciting the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Secretary Vincine Zerlan read minutes of the previous meeting and the bills.

Members held balloting on candidate Tina Capenier, which was favorable. Initiation will be held at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 16, at which time the Aerie and Auxiliary will host the State Officers Weekend.

Visiting chairman Evalene Ederle reported sending four get-well cards. Plans were discussed by Nina Jackson, Jimmie Durante Crippled Children and Cancer funds chairman, for a craft show.

Also, on Dec. 6 there will be a special Christmas party at the Eagles Home for invited guests. On Sunday, Dec. 20, the Aerie will have a children's Christmas party. Attendance prizes were awarded to Flo Stokes and Frances Thompson, and refreshments were served.

St. Ann's Society plans Christmas party Dec. 15

Kathy Dohnal covers the Madison-Venice scene for the Press-Record-Journal. She can be contacted at 877-1096.

St. Ann's Society of St. Mary's in Madison held its monthly meeting on Nov. 24. Vice President Rosalie Stern opened the meeting.

The Christmas Party for St. Ann's members is to be held Dec. 15 at Engelbert Hall. Catering will be by Ravanello's. Members are asked to bring a $5 exchange gift.

Senior Bernadette spoke of a fund raiser for the Sisters of Divine Providence. A musical production and comedy called "Nunense" will be held the last week of January and first week of February at Sheldon Hall on Grand Avenue in St. Louis. Proceeds from Jan. 31 and Feb. 3 will directly benefit the sisters of Divine Providence. Anyone interested, should contact Sister Bernadette at St. Mary's 451-9685 for tickets.

Father Jim spoke of the church's painting progress. All repairs should be finished by Christmas. Nov. 25 was the dedication anniversary of St. Mary's, marking 30 years.

Judge

"I am taking this step to protect the integrity of the Third Judicial Circuit bench from even any appearance of impropriety and to devote my full attention to the interests of my family," Moran said.

Both Moran's and his father's statements referred questions to Edwardsville attorney Bill Lucio. Lucio, reached Friday after his students outside on a nice day at a music workshop at this time.

Before Moran's statement was issued, Chief Circuit Judge Paul

Riley issued a general administrative order which temporarily placed Moran on restricted duties or duties other than judicial assignments. Riley declined further comment.

Madison County State's Attorney William Haine likewise issued a statement saying that his office will not comment on investigations concerning child abuse, but an individual has been charged.

"The welfare of the child is at stake in these types of cases and sometimes the good name of someone under investigation is at stake," Haine said in his statement.

Should charges be filed against Moran, Haine cited conflicts with his office trying the case and said in his release that any such case would likely be handled by the Illinois Attorney General's office.

Moran became an associate judge in 1977 and was appointed as a circuit judge in 1980. He was elected a circuit judge in 1982.

Juvenile Court proceedings are closed. Thus, details about the allegation against Moran were not available.

Schroeder

who really do care about what goes on in the schools."

Schroeder said there are a few experiences that were particularly inspiring. He had the opportunity to speak to 500 students and teachers at a music workshop at Duke University and found it stimulating.

"I don't think I've ever been in one room with so many enthusiastic people at one time," he said.

Although less inspiring, he said that an appearance on the Tonight Show was memorable. "All appearing on the Tonight Show with Jay Leno was certainly something I'll never forget," he said. "I feel as though Jay Leno got a lot of laughs at my expense."

He said Leno joked about his unusual teaching techniques, which sometimes include taking his students outside on a nice day to gaze at the sky and daydream.

Although Schroeder was embarrassed to be the source of Leno's humor, he said he would not do anything differently if he were given the opportunity.

"I'd do it all over again, because it was the chance of a lifetime," he said.

Schroeder said his reign as the U.S. teacher of the year was not only full of exciting, memorable experiences, but also had benefits that will profit him for the rest of his life.

"What this award has done for me is validate what I have always done in the classroom," he said.

"It has also given me new found credibility that I've never had before."

"When you win an award like this, you spend the rest of your life trying to live up to it," he said. "I work even harder at trying to fight boredom (among students)."

"I think the number one problem for students is boredom. I do believe that learning can be fun."

As far as passing on his honor, Schroeder has plenty of advice for the newly elected teacher of the year.

"He or she is in for the magic carpet ride of his or her life. And I would tell him or her to hold on and enjoy every minute of it."

"Appreciate it and spread the word that there are things going on in education that are truly good."

Party Rent-A-Santa being offered here

For the third consecutive year, the Madison County Humane Society is offering a Rent-A-Santa for holiday parties.

Santa and Mrs. Claus will help spread holiday cheer, and help the homeless critters; too.

The cost of renting Santa is only $25. All proceeds benefit the Madison County Humane Society. For more information call Dot Cathey at 432-2246.

Some from Scott heading to Somalia

By Ann-Marie Campos
Staff writer

U.S. military troops will begin departing to posts in Somalia within four to five days in an effort to provide relief to the upset country.

Only a small portion of Scott Air Force Base personnel and service people in the Metro East area will be sent. An estimated 20,000 service men and women are anticipated to go.

"Only the key people will be taken (from Scott Air Force Base) in ones and twos as they are needed for their expertise," he said.

World holiday celebrations talk

"Holiday Celebrations Worldwide" will be the topic for the Dec. 9 session of "Dialogue with Senior Citizens" at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

This program, presented by SIUE faculty and international students, will focus on how different nationalities, religions and cultures celebrate the holiday season.

Sponsored by the Gerontology Program at the University, the presentation will begin at 1 p.m. in the Mississippi-Nile Room of the University Center.

Brig. Gen. John Handy said during a press conference at Scott Air Force Base on Friday.

"The troops will take on wearing parties, thieves and thugs to get the food to the people," said Handy, the commander of the Tanker Airlift Control Center, headquartered at the Air Mobility Command at Scott Air Force Base.

"We're talking of an area where there is no law and order, no established government. Right now there are 9 and 10 year-olds over there with automatic weapons."

"The effort now is to get the food delivered to where ever it needs to go."

He said that within the next four to five days Air Force troops from March Air Force Base and Marines from Camp Pendleton, both in California, will be deployed and flown to a landing facility in Mogadishu, Africa, which is the closest land.

ing facility to Somalia. Additional volunteers from the international guard and the reserves will also be asked to sign up. Their efforts are to provide medical and food supplies to the people of Somalia.

Although the time length is not definite, he estimates the operation to take three or four weeks.

"Our efforts are to get in, take the facts, get the humanitarian business started and then turn it over to the United Nations," Handy said.

Water bills have new design

Beginning Dec. 1, Illinois American Water Company customers are receiving newly redesigned water bills.

The new format allows simultaneous laser printing of a customer's address on one side and billing information on the other. The form is then folded, pressure sealed and ready for mailing.

Upon receipt of the new bill, a customer tears at the marked perforation along the top and sides, and then unfolds it to retain the bill printed on the inside of the envelope form.

"The new bill design saves the cost of a mailing envelope and allows the company to keep up with new postal regulations," also gives the company an opportunity to take advantage of postal discounts in the future, once bar coding and the additional four-digit zip code suffixes are added, said Wayne F. Schlosser, Illinois-American community relations manager.

Lindsay Schinker wins pageant title

Lindsay Schinker competed in the Miss Lily of the Valley contest in the categories of sports-wear, formal wear, interview, photogenic, special event (modeling to music) and talent.

Lindsay won the pageant title for the age division (combined scores from sports-wear, formal wear and interview). She was also chosen as the winner in both the photogenic and special event categories.

Her baton and ribbon routine, performed to the American Bandstand theme, earned her the 1st runner-up award in the talent competition. Lindsay was crowned High Point Queen for receiving the most points in her age division.

Her achievements in this pageant make her eligible to compete at the Universal/Southern Charm Illinois State Pageant, to be held this spring in Chicago. Lindsay was the Universal/Southern Charm Illinois State Lapetite Queen in 1991, and went on to compete at the international level.

Lindsay also recently won the Little Miss of America Preliminary Pageant in Collinsville, taking the modeling title and the age division (7-10) title of most beautiful. She is now eligible to compete at the state level in Springfield, which advances to Nationals in Hollywood, Calif.

Lindsay is the daughter of Tim and Karen Schinker and the granddaughter of Pat and Anna Scanlan, all of Granite City. Lindsay is a straight "A" student at Wilson Elementary School, where she is in the 3rd grade. She is also a student of modeling, baton, ribbon, and dance at Glitter Girls Studio in Granite City, owned and operated by Rhonda Vest-Nolan.

Lindsay is sponsored by local businesses including Dr. Robert Blankenship, Sonshine Auto Sales and Gitcho's Gas.

Young Warrior wrestlers whip Edwardsville

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Granite City High School wrestling team might be young and relatively inexperienced this year. But the Warriors wrestled like varsity veterans Friday night in an easy 14 dual victory over Edwardsville.

The Warriors posted wins in 10 of 13 matches and got pins from T.J. Slay, John Vene, Joe Scott and Andy Richards. Granite City simply overmatched Edwardsville, which came into the match at 4-0.

"We were hoping it would be closer," Edwardsville coach Babe Stahlhut said. "They just took it to us. We didn't match up very well."

Granite City posted its third victory of the year. Most of the team's wrestlers are freshmen and sophomores, and the early success has taken coach Mike Garland by surprise.

The Warriors lost most of their wrestlers to graduation after going to the state tournament last year.

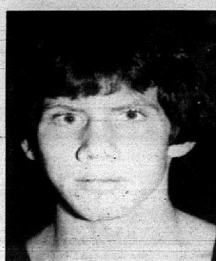

"I'm just as surprised as the next guy," Garland said. "We've really stressed the fundamentals and conditioning, and it's paid off. Our kids are in pretty good shape, and I think it made a difference in some of the matches tonight."

It's definitely a big win for us. When you're this young, you just don't know what's going to happen."

Granite City won the first six matches of the meet and put Edwardsville away when Jeff Witter decimated Brent Rogers in the 160-pound weight class.

The Warriors had little trouble in the lower weight classes.

Chris Hogan, a sophomore wrestling at 103, got the Warriors started with a win by tech-

Hogan dominated his opponent and ended the match in the third period.

Tim Fulkerson, another sophomore, followed at 112 with a 5-2 win over Rick Welborn. The win seemed to pump up the Warriors, who recalled Fulkerson getting pinned by Welborn last year.

Pat Scheffer then defeated Neal Evans 5-0 at 119. Slay pinned Tim Veditz at 125. Vene pinned Todd Murphy at 130 and Jamie Kirby beat Mark Campbell 11-7 at 135. All are sophomores except Scheffer, who is a senior.

Garland was pleased with the performances of his lighter wrestlers. He said the team might have gained some confidence after beating Carbondale and Centralia Nov. 25 to open the season.

"I'm really proud of these kids," Garland said. "It just shows you what a little heart and desire can do. Good wrestlers can make up for age."

"I think the first match of the year made a big difference. When you know you can win, you know there's a chance. There are a lot of kids on this team who have never wrestled varsity before."

Granite City's experienced wrestlers did just as well. One of team's four returning starters, (See Wrestlers, Page 4B)

Elks announce hoops contest for youngsters

The 21st annual Elks Hoop Shoot, the National Free Throw Shooting Contest for youngsters age 8-13, will be held 9 a.m. Dec. 12 at Grigsby Junior High School. Registration for the event will begin at 8:15 a.m.

Over 3 million youngsters throughout the country entered last year's competition for boys and girls in three age categories: 8-9, 10-11, and 12-13. Each contestant is given 25 shots. The boys and girls in each age group with the best scores advance through four tiers of competition to qualify for the national finals at Market Square Arena in Indianapolis, Ind.

Local winners will compete in the District event at Centralia on Jan. 25, 1992. Names of the national winners will be inscribed on the Elks National Hoop Shoot plaque, which is on permanent display in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

Granite City rallies to hand Van Buskirk first career win

Warriors' size, depth too much for Knights

By Scott Wuerz
Correspondent

Granite City High School survived a first-quarter onslaught by Triad to win 50-42 and hand coach John Van Buskirk his first career coaching victory Friday night.

The Warriors trailed by as many as 10 points in the first period but used a deep bench to wear the Knights down, cutting their deficit to 29-27 on a buzzer-beater by guard Larry Mosby.

"We didn't shoot nearly as well as I had hoped we would and we should have done better rebounding with our height advantage," Van Buskirk said. "But our biggest asset turned out to be the fact that we have a strong nucleus of seven or eight players who can come off of the bench and contribute. I just think we wore them down."

Van Buskirk

The Knights were able to stay close to Granite City throughout the third quarter, but they were left behind when the Warriors found their second wind in the final period.

Triad forward Chris McMillan put the Knights ahead 40-39 with a 5-foot baseline jumper to start the quarter, but the Warriors points with less than five minutes to play, prompting a Triad timeout. He refused to let up after the break, however, and scored after a steal by Mosby.

After the teams traded missed field goals, Granite City ran out over a minute of the clock by outrunning Triad as the Knights tried to foul.

Triad coach Richard Mason said he was disappointed by the loss, but not with his team's level of effort.

"We were a little bit fatigued and we shot poorly from the second quarter on," Mason said. "But we were a couple of missed easy chances away from turning this around. We know we can shoot better than this. Everyone has worked really hard in practice, though, so we think (our shooting) will come around."

Mason said Granite City's swarming defense teamed up with the Knights' poor shooting to knock his team out of its game plan.

"We definitely have to put shots up from the outside to win," Mason said. "We knew they would throw a lot of things at us defensively, so we had to keep changing things around. It takes a lot of our options out of the picture when our outside game isn't on."

Yarber lining up for opportunity of career

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The future of Charlie Yarber's football career could fall into place this week — especially if he has a career game.

Yarber, who plays minor-league football for the St. Louis Motion, has been selected to play in the Midwest Football League's Pro Bowl for the second straight year. Unlike last year, this game will be played next Saturday at the Citrus Bowl in Orlando, Fla., where Yarber hopes to impress a number of pro scouts who will be on hand.

The 6-foot-3, 260-pound lineman has hopes of playing in a pro league, and he figures the Citrus Bowl game represents the first step.

"This game is really important to me," Yarber said. "There are supposed to be a lot of scouts there, and I'm hoping to get a tryout from it. I don't exactly know what the future will be like, but I'm hoping I can have a good game and at least talk to someone."

Yarber has been shooting for the pros since graduating five years ago from Granite City High School, where he made the all-Southwestern Conference team twice at defensive tackle. He went on to play football for one year at Lindenwood College.

Last year, Yarber tried out for the Motion and was given a spot by coach Al Robinson. He played defensive end and helped lead the team to a 9-2 finish and a Top Ten ranking in the country among teams belonging to the American Football Association.

The Motion went just 4-4 this year. But Yarber had another good season at end and led the team in sacks.

"Charlie's been a real good player for us," Robinson said. But it is Yarber's offensive (See Yarber, Page 2B) skills that might help him in the long run. Yarber was asked to play center last year for the Motion, and he began working on long snaps. In his first season on an offensive line, he allowed just one sack.

"I had never played offense before, but I guess Robinson must have seen something," Yarber said. "I've played defense my whole life, so I had to learn it all over. I had to go from making the hits to taking them."

"It's worked out real well," Robinson said.

Long snapping has become an obsession with Yarber. Many teams in the NFL save room on the roster for a player who handles the task of long snaps on special teams. Snappers who have enough accuracy to get the ball to the right spot every time are considered valuable.

"I'm trying to get him to the NFL," Robinson said. "I've been showing him what he needs to do, and I think he has a chance if he keeps improving. There are a lot of quality centers in the NFL who hold onto their jobs for a long time, but only a few long snappers. They're like punters and kickers.

"He's got the heart to make it, he's just got to keep focused on the long snapping." Back in high school, Yarber would have never dreamed of playing offense. As a junior, he helped lead the Warriors to the 1986 Southwestern Conference title. He played defensive tackle opposite John Kabbendjian.

Yarber, who was 6-2, 220 then, was hardly the player he is now. His younger brother, Jason, is a 6-1, 195 junior who played on the Warriors' line this fall.

Yarber would like to see his younger brother bulk up as well. "I had nowhere near the mass I have now," Yarber said. "In college, I found out how much work it takes, and I worked on a lot. I'd like to see my brother do even better. I expect more out of him than myself." Yarber, who has decent speed for his size, runs the 40-yard dash in 4.9 seconds. Last year, he was given a chance to try out for the San Antonio Riders of the World League of American Football, but the league folded.

Yarber would like to earn an opportunity to play anywhere professionally, perhaps in Europe or Canada. He will be thinking about the Pro Bowl game all week, starting Tuesday. The players will train for four days in Cocoa Beach, Fla.

"I want to go farther," Yarber said. "It's not a dream, it's a goal."

Robinson said the goal is realistic. "He's still young enough," Robinson said. "He needs to improve his upper body strength a little, but he's coming along pretty good. There will be a lot of people watching him down in Florida."

McMillan led all scorers in the game with 15 points. Pat Curry scored 12 for the Warriors, and Mosby had 11. Van Buskirk said the Warriors, who opened the season Tuesday with a 72-58 win over McCluer, needed a boost of confidence. Granite City is a young team with just one returning starter from last year, Mosby. But the Warriors will have little time to enjoy their victory, considering their next opponent: East St. Louis.

The Flyers are undefeated, and they are scheduled to play Jennings at the Coca-Cola/KMOX Shootout on Thursday at the St. Louis Arena.

"We play East St. Louis at home on Friday and I'm sure it will be our toughest game of the season," Van Buskirk said. "They are by far the best team in the area. They have great players at every position and just seem to do everything a notch above everyone else."

The Warriors will follow with another home game Saturday against McCluer North.

Wrestlers

Richards, had a big match at 189.

After taking a 4-1 lead over Joe Adkins in the first period, Richards began the second period on the mat and came close to getting pinned when Adkins started to score on full points. Somehow, Richards hung tough and got out of the predicament.

In dramatic fashion, he pinned Adkins with one second to spare in the period.

Garland said the win over Adkins — a state qualifier last year — should give Richards a huge lift for this year.

"(Adkins) is a stud," Garland said. "He's probably the best wrestler on their team. That's a big win for (Richards)."

"I think it was just flat desire. We work on a lot of the fundamentals, so we work on getting off your back. He needs a win like that to pump him up."

The Tigers rebounded in the heavyweight bout with a pin by Eric Stunkle over Warrior freshman Chris Janek, but it was too late. Granite City clearly had the upper hand throughout the match.

The Warriors lost just two other times — at 140, where Jeff Morris lost 18-9, to Robert Brown, and at 132, where Jeff Estrada fell 10-3 to Preston Hall.

The Tigers swallowed their first loss after beating Centralia, Carbondale, Roxana and Jerseyville. Stahlhut said he was both surprised by and impressed with Granite City.

"When we had a good one out there, they had someone who was a little better," Stahlhut said. "We've been pretty happy with the way this season has gone until tonight."

"(Garland) is thinking of the future, but they're going to be tough this year. They've got some good replacements. They're not going to lose too many around here. I hope we meet them again in the sectional."

The Warriors were back on the mat Saturday at Peoria in a quadrangular meet against Pekin, Bloomington and the host school, Granite City's next meet is Thursday at Bethalto Civic Memorial.

Garland said the Warriors are taking it one at a time. Granite City probably will not go undefeated like it did last year, but the Warriors are improving.

"We had a great year last year," Garland said. "It was my best team ever. But this year is a lot of fun. A lot of these kids were wrestling at Coolidge and Grigsby last year, and they're hungry."

Granite City Hall closed for winter

The Granite City Hall of Fame building has closed for the year and will resume for visitation in the spring when the weather improves. The building is normally open to the public from 1-3 p.m. Sundays.

Hall of Fame chairman Les Thompson said any local groups, organizations or out-of-town visitors who wish to visit the building should call him at 856-7636 or the William Schooley Law Firm at 877-2142 to set up a personal appointment for a tour.

The building contains plaques of athletes inducted into the Hall of Fame and other memorabilia. The Hall of Fame Committee has begun its annual fundraising project and is selling calendars for 1993.

SINGLE MIDWEST CLEARANCE LOCATION FRIDAY, SATURDAY & MONDAY ONLY!

FRIDAY, DEC. 4TH, 9A.M.-9P.M.

SATURDAY, DEC. 5TH, 9A.M.-5P.M.

&amp; MONDAY, DEC. 7TH, 9A.M.-9P.M.

Due to special arrangements, a special 3 day Sales Event will be held at the Ford dealership located in Collinsville and Edwardsville. Due to a surplus of vehicles in the Midwest, this single location will host a sale featuring unique sales incentives not normally available to consumers. If you have been waiting to buy, this is your best opportunity.

1993 Ford vehicles available for immediate delivery Escorts, Rangers, Tempos, F150's, F250's trucks, Taurus, Festivas, Probes, Broncos, Aerostar Vans, Mustangs, Thunderbirds and Crown Victoria's.

INVOICE PRICE POLICY

A sales team representing Ford will be on location to monitor the sales of many select new 1993 Ford's at actual invoice price. The prices you see may surprise you, but will be made available for 3 days only.

FACTORY REBATES & INCENTIVES OFFERED

All factory rebates and cash incentives will be passed on to the customer with the purchase of a new Ford model. If you choose, you can use this money AS YOUR DOWN PAYMENT, which could allow you to make your purchase WITH NO MONEY DOWN!

SPECIAL FINANCE AND LEASING TERMS

Whether you choose to purchase or lease your new Ford, representatives of FORD MOTOR CREDIT CORPORATION and 4 additional financing sources will be on location for on the spot approval for all qualified buyers. Lenient credit terms are available in both cases with as little as NO MONEY DOWN. If you choose to lease a new Ford, arrangements can be made for you to receive CASH FOR YOUR TRADE-IN. Buyers will be available to pay-off your trade-in and give you top dollar regardless of make, model or condition. (Bring your title or payment book.) Please be prepared to buy—a deposit may not guarantee holding your vehicle.

Students make apple butter

Mary Davis, a kindergarten teacher at Prather School, has been making apple butter for about 20 years. She has brought this tradition through Stallings, Emerson and now Prather.

The children help by bringing apples and glass jars. Davis first sets up the apple peeler so the children can begin peeling on their apples. She then gets the mixer ready for the apples, cinnamon and sugar. (usually 15-20 pounds). The mixture is then cooked in a roaster.

Each child gets to take their apple butter home. Recipe? Many have asked for it, but Davis says there is no way to follow the recipe what makes it good.

Food gifts tell nicest stories about friends, holiday spirit

Food gifts are fun to make and give during the holiday season. They are an economical way to say "Happy Holidays" to friends, neighbors and teachers, as well as hosts and hostesses.

Three conversation-piece recipes for gift-giving, all featuring popular dairy products, have contemporary appeal and holiday flair.

A homemade Basic Salad Dressing Mix, made with dairy sour cream and buttermilk, is a sharing with friends. Add chunks of blue cheese to the basic mix and it becomes a Blue Cheese Dressing, or prevent the basic recipe with tomato paste, grated parmesan cheese and Italian herbs for Creamy Italian Dressing. Either is delicious over salad greens or can be served as a dip with raw vegetables.

Fresh Holiday Muffins—flavored with dairy eggnog, butter, candied cherries, nuts and currants—are a treat for a holiday brunch, lunch or tea. The muffins can be baked in individual foil cups and presented in a colorful box, a wicker basket, a wooden sleigh or a plastic bag tied with a ribbon. Note on the greeting card that the muffins keep at room temperature up to a week or can be frozen for a month before using.

Pasta-loving friends will rave about Creamy Pesto Sauce, prepared with cream cheese, parmesan cheese and a traditional blend of parsley, basil, garlic and nuts. The sauce can be made in a food processor or blender. It should be packed in a jar for refrigerator storage and provide directions for use. Decorate the gift package with a tag or provide some spaghetti or fettuccine along with the sauce.

Basic salad dressing mix

3 cups dairy sour cream
1 1/2 cups buttermilk
2 tbsp. white wine vinegar
2 tbsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. paprika

Combine sour cream, buttermilk, vinegar, sugar, salt, dry mustard, pepper and paprika. Mix well. Store, covered, in refrigerator up to 2 weeks.

Use as base for Blue Cheese or Creamy Italian Dressing. Makes 1 quart basic mix.

Blue Cheese Dressing: Combine 1 cup basic mix, 1/4 cup (1 oz.) crumbled blue cheese, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder. Use over salad greens or as dip for raw vegetables.

Creamy Italian Dressing: Combine 1 cup basic mix, 2 tablespoons tomato paste, 4 teaspoons grated parmesan cheese and 1/4 teaspoon Italian herbs. Use over salad greens or as dip for raw vegetables.

Rich holiday muffins

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 1/2 cups flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 cup dairy eggnog
1/2 cup chopped candied cherries
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1/2 cup currants

Preheat oven to 375°. Line muffin cups with paper liners. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs

Combine flour, baking powder and salt. Add alternately to creamed mixture with eggnog, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Mix well after each addition. Stir in cherries, pecans and currants.

Fill lined muffin cups three-fourths full. Bake in preheated oven 18 to 20 minutes until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 5 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool completely on wire rack.

Store at room temperature in airtight container. Muffins keep at room temperature up to 1 week or frozen up to 1 month.

Makes 18 to 20 muffins.

Creamy pesto sauce

2 cups fresh parsley
8 tbsp. dried basil (pignolias)
1/4 cup pine nuts (pignolias)
8 whole blanched almonds
2 cloves garlic
2 pkg. (8 oz. each) cream cheese, broken in small pieces
1 cup grated parmesan cheese
1/2 tsp. salt

Preprocess parsley, basil, nuts and garlic in food processor or blender until coarsely chopped. Add cream cheese, parmesan cheese and salt. Process until well combined.

For gift giving, divide mixture in half. To prepare each half, include the following directions with gift: Cook 12 ounces pasta according to package directions. Drain pasta, reserving 6 tablespoons water in which pasta was cooked. Add liquid to softened pesto sauce. Mix well. Toss hot pasta with pesto sauce. Serve immediately.

Makes 6 servings. Creamy Pesto Sauce can be refrigerated up to 2 weeks.

Holiday food gifts can be more than just cookies. Give friends and relatives a Basic Salad Dressing Mix, Holiday Muffins or Creamy Pesto Sauce.

Savvy cook knows substitutes for pinch of this, dash of that

By Mary Schroepfer
When I am up to my elbows in flour or tomato sauce, the last thing I want to do is stop to the store to pick up a few ingredients to finish a dish. Instead, I search the pantry to find a suitable substitute.

Many substitutes simply use another form of the needed ingredient. One egg yolk instead of fresh garlic is the same as 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder. Sometimes I replace salty, high-cholesterol or high-fat ingredients with healthier alternatives. I cut the fat in dip and salad-dressing by using plain yogurt instead of sour cream. One cup sour cream has 483 calories and 48 grams of fat. In contrast, one cup plain yogurt contains 144 calories and 3 grams of fat.

Replacing whole eggs with two egg whites falls into this category. A whole egg contains 73 calories, 6 grams of fat and 220 milligrams of cholesterol. Two egg whites have 32 calories, almost no fat and no cholesterol. Whole eggs contain more iron, zinc and folate than just egg whites. Substitutes are handy, too, when I don't want to buy a whole container of a little-used item or it is too expensive. For example, cocoa costs less than baking chocolate. Homemade sweetened condensed milk costs only 62 cents per 1 1/2 cups when made at home using sugar and nonfat dry milk, but the price is $1.99 to $1.99 per can.

Ingredient substitution charts are available for $2 from University of Missouri Extension. They can be ordered from the following addresses: 121 S. Meramec, Suite 501, Clayton, Mo. 63105, 414 East Main, P.O. Box 71, Union, Mo. 63084, Courthouse, 211 E. Third St., Montgomery City, Mo. 63301.

During the holidays, I keep my substitute list handy. Tips from that list follow. Healthier substitutions have been starred (*). 1/4 teaspoon baking powder = 1/2 teaspoon baking soda and 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar. 1 cup butter = 1 cup shortening + 1/2 cup lard = 1 cup margarine. 1/2 cup oil = 1/2 cup semisweet chocolate + 1/2 cup unsweetened chocolate + 1/2 cup sugar. 1/2 cup oil or 1/2 cup unsweetened chocolate = 3/4 cup milk and 1/2 cup butter or margarine. 1 cup undiluted evaporated skim milk = 1 cup heavy cream. 1/2 cup milk and 1/2 cup butter or margarine (use in cooking or baking). 1 cup light cream = 3/4 cup milk and 3 tablespoons butter or margarine (use in baking and cooking) = 1 cup undiluted evaporated skim milk.

1 whole egg = 2 egg whites = 3 tablespoons and 1 teaspoon thawed frozen egg = 2 yolks and 1 tablespoon water (in cookies) = 2 yolks (in custard, cream filling and like mixtures).

1 cup self-rising flour = 1 cup minus 2 teaspoons all-purpose flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt.

1 package (4 servings) flavored gelatin = 1 tablespoon plain gelatin and 2 cups fruit juice instead of water. 1 cup miniature marshmallows = 10 large marshmallows. 1 teaspoon dried lemon peel = Grated peel of 1 medium lemon = 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract. 1 cup soured milk or buttermilk = 1 cup minus 1 tablespoon milk plus 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar (allow to stand

5 to 10 minutes). 1 tablespoon instant minced onion = 2 tablespoons chopped fresh onion. 1 teaspoon dried parsley = 3 teaspoons chopped fresh parsley. 1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice = 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 teaspoon allspice and 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg. 1 cup dairy sour cream = 1/2 cup buttermilk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 cup cottage cheese, blended until smooth = 1 cup plain yogurt. 1 cup plain yogurt = 1 tablespoon active dry yeast + 1 cake yeast, compressed = 1 package (1/4 ounce) active dry yeast. Sweetened condensed milk: 1 1/2 cups nonfat dry milk powder, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup sugar.

1 tsp. vanilla. In 4-cup glass measure or bowl, mix dry milk and water until smooth. Stir in sugar and vanilla. Microwave on high power 30 seconds to 1 1/2 minutes, stirring every 30 seconds, until heated but not boiling. Makes 1 1/2 cups, equivalent of 1 can (14 ounces) sweetened condensed milk; 219 calories, no fat, 314 mg calcium, 422 mg potassium and 185 mg sodium per 1/2 cup.

TV/Radio review: What is Spike Lee's message?

Scene: Any television newsroom in America, circa 1970.

Caller: And the demonstration will be on Elm Street, right in front of the post office.

Assignment editor: (mildly interested) Yeah, what time?

Caller: What time can you get the cameras here?

It really happened, folks. People working on behalf of worthy causes—peace, civil rights, better housing—used the media. They demonstrated for the media, because they believed that if enough people heard their message, some good would come of it.

And some of those worthy causes actually came about, in some cases more successfully than others.

Now comes Spike Lee, the creator of the movie "Malcolm X," with a message of... what? A lot of people will never know, because Lee declared that the cameramen dispatched by television newsrooms in St. Louis to cover Lee's talk Nov. 30 at the University of Missouri-St. Louis could have five minutes to get pictures, and then they had to leave.

That order, we are told, was backed up by a cadre of ushers who blocked the cameras and escorted the equipment, the videographers and the accompanying reporters out of the building.

Incidentally, the University of Missouri-St. Louis is a public campus supported by taxpayers.

Donn Johnson, a reporter for KTVI-TV (Channel 2), and a veteran of those heady times of civil rights movements, a man who has seen his share of demonstrations and public events of all kinds, raised an objection to being ejected.

"But this is a public forum," Johnson reportedly said. Lee, we are told, maintained that it was not.

To be honest, I don't know whether the event qualified as a public forum. Frankly, I don't think that's even relevant. The point is that Lee, a master of his craft of using the media, and a person many people turn to for a perspective on the matter of living as a black in this country, wanted to conduct his business outside the scrutiny of the cameras.

Personally, I find that repugnant. Professionally, I find it frightening.

Exactly what is it Lee wants to say outside of the public view? And, far more important, what makes him think he has the right to hide his message behind closed doors?

And why, I wonder, did he choose to eject television but not other media? Interestingly, it was television which became the medium of choice of those aforementioned demonstrators for several reasons. One, it was immediate; two, for the most part, it was the medium from which most of them got their information; three, (and most important) television news all too often prefers pictures to substance and needs a remarkable amount of fresh pictures every day. Therefore, demonstrators can get the same story on every day — if they can generate new video opportunities.

"The point is that Lee, a master of his craft of using the media, and a person many people turn to for a perspective on the matter of living as a black in this country, wanted to conduct his business outside the scrutiny of the cameras."

Lee, reportedly, in explanation of his actions, compared his appearance to that of a rock group. At most concerts, cameras are given a few minutes to get some pictures and then excused from the premises.

But there are, a reasonable person would think, a lot of differences in an appearance by Spike Lee, award-winning movie maker with a great deal to say, and for example, Axl Rose of Guns and Roses.

Unless the message is that Lee is selling movies by making headlines. Period.

And that would be sad. Ian MacBryde is an independent video producer and former television executive.

SIUE cancels 'A Christmas Carol' production

Because of "unanticipated casting difficulties," the upcoming production of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" has been cancelled at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Lynn F. Kluth, an SIUE professor of theater and dance and acting chair of that department.

Kluth, who directed the show last year and who would have directed it again this year, said he was not able to gather a full complement of actors to fill out the play's cast. The production, which was a box office success last year, is based on Kluth's own stage adaptation of the holiday classic.

Patrons who have season tickets for the 1992-1993 University Theater season, or those patrons who have purchased tickets in advance, may trade their "Christmas Carol" tickets for an equal number of tickets to a subsequent show during the remainder of the 1992-1993 season. Professor Kluth said.

For more information, call the SIUE department of theater and dance, 692-2773.
